

transparency in supply chains guidance

What is it and how can Unseen help you to meet its recommendations?

what is the transparency in supply chains guidance?

Unseen's consultancy services help organisations to build a robust modern slavery strategy aligned with the UK government's Transparency in Supply Chains (TISC) guidance.

The guidance outlines how businesses can create effective modern slavery statements and strengthen their approach to tackling exploitation. Our Business Services team has embedded these requirements into tailored support and membership packages, ensuring companies go beyond compliance to actively reduce risks within their operations and supply chains.

Every service is shaped by insights from our survivor consultants, driving real change and lasting impact. We work as long-term partners, empowering businesses to lead in the fight against modern slavery and set new sector standards. Identifying exploitation should not deter action - rather, it's the first step toward improvement.

Scan the QR code to learn more about recent TISC guidance updates in our dedicated blog.

Explore our services to see how we can help you align with TISC guidance.

TISC Guidance Insight	Unseen Service
4.1 Organisational structure, its business and its supply chains “It is crucial that organisations have oversight of their supply chains so that they can understand the risks of modern slavery along the chain and take action to mitigate against those risks.” (pg 17)	Supplier Questionnaire Development Development and delivery of an industry-specific modern slavery and human trafficking risk assessment questionnaire
4.2 Organisational policies “Clear organisational policies [...] demonstrate an organisation’s commitment to this issue and ensure that appropriate and coordinated action is taken throughout the business.” (pg 20)	Gap Analysis A review of your current modern slavery approach, written guidance and core policies with recommendations for improvement Policy Development Development of modern slavery policy that aligns with your organisational objectives and sector challenges
4.3 Assessing and managing risk “[...] businesses should regularly conduct risk assessments and continue to develop a deeper understanding of their supply chains.” (pg 30)	Supplier Risk Assessment Identification of inherent and residual risks with suppliers including prioritisation and recommendations Supplier Engagement Workshop Workshop to engage suppliers in open discussion and offer best practice recommendations

TISC Guidance Insight	Unseen Service
4.4 Due diligence in relation to modern slavery “Conducting thorough modern slavery due diligence will help protect workers in your supply chains from exploitation and ensure that survivors of modern slavery are provided with the support they need to begin rebuilding their lives.” (pg 40)	Worker Wellbeing Site Visits 1-day site visit to gather information directly from workers and investigate effectiveness of on-site policy and procedure implementation Escalation & Remediation Development of organisational reporting, escalation and remediation policies and procedures
4.5 Training “Training will help staff to identify modern slavery risks and equip them with the knowledge and tools to respond effectively to such exploitation.” (pg 50)	Training Sessions Options of in-person and online sessions with introductory and in-depth focuses - eLearning courses also available
4.6 Monitoring and evaluation: understanding and demonstrating effectiveness “Lessons learnt through monitoring and evaluation can be used to improve policies and processes, including identifying training needs. It should also inform the organisation’s future approach and the content of their next modern slavery statement.” (pg 54)	Modern Slavery Statement Review Full review of modern slavery statement with recommendations for development TISC Readiness Workshop 1-day hands-on workshop designed to help your business assess current performance against TISC guidance

next steps

Get in touch today to discuss how we can work together.

 business@unseenuk.org

 unseenuk.org/business